

Marcelo Torres

Marcelo is a Principal Consultant at N-SIDE. He supports clients across the energy value chain with innovative market design solutions to facilitate the integration of renewable energy and foster the deployment of flexibility.

Before joining N-SIDE, Marcelo held diverse regulatory and commercial roles in the energy sector, including at Alpiq, where he was responsible for the expansion of Virtual Power Plant activities into new markets, at Drax Group, where he focussed on developing a route-to-market for long-duration storage, and at Ofgem, where he managed the British regulator's work on cross-border electricity trading arrangements.
